Following the opening ceremony was a three-day academic program. This conference, with the largest number of participants in the history of GDSN is unprecedented. It fully demonstrated the participants' desire for offline learning and their pursuit of knowledge. The conference attracted a total of 2135 registrants, and the participants reached 2500. 387 abstracts

(280 Chinese and 138 English) were received, among which 25 excellent abstracts were selected. The Congress had three plenary sessions, 13 special sessions and 6 English sessions, covering CME Basic Forum, CME Clinical Forum, Youth Forum, Kidney Disease Clinic, Basic Research, Clinical Research, Peritoneal Dialysis, Kidney Nursing, Kidney Transplantation, Hemodialysis Engineering Technology, Renal Pathology ... It has 193 speakers and 158 moderators in total. The academic vibe was intensive and interactive. The whole meeting had a great influence and brought participants "full of dry goods".

To support the development of the kidney medicine in Middle-western China, this Congress provided target-sponsorship to 46 doctors from the less developed regions.
