Conference Report

The International Congress of Chinese Nephrologists (ICCN) is hosted by the International Association of Chinese Nephrologists (IACN) and collaborated with international bodies such as the European Renal Association (ERA) and the International Society of Renal Nutrition and Metabolism (ISRNM). It is a major academic conference in nephrology with significant international influence. The "Nephrology Update Westlake Forum" was first launched in 2013 by the First Affiliated Hospital of Zhejiang University School of Medicine, Mayo Clinic College of Medicine, and Shanghai Changzheng Hospital. It was previously accredited as a continuing education program by the International Society of Nephrology (ISN) and the American Society of Nephrology (ASN), and has been successfully held for 12 sessions. Over the past decade, it has received strong support and trust from numerous nephrology experts and professionals both domestically and internationally, gradually evolving into a globally influential academic exchange platform in the field of nephrology. The 6th ICCN and the 13th Nephrology Update Westlake Forum were jointly held in Shaoxing, Zhejiang, from May 13 to 16, 2026, with over 1,600 registered participants, including 100 young scholars from across the country who attended with financial support. The conference invited 214 leading local and international nephrology experts to deliver plenary lectures and participate in roundtable discussions. Topics covered glomerular diseases, blood purification, peritoneal dialysis, kidney transplantation, renal pathology, artificial intelligence in nephrology, basic research, and renal nursing. Renowned scholars in the field, including distinguished nephrologists from the global Chinese community, the President of the Asian Pacific Society of Nephrology, Academician Prof Liu Zhihong, Academician Prof Hou Fan Fan, and dozens of top international nephrology experts, graced the event with their lectures.

The conference featured a rich and diverse array of academic sessions: in addition to over 100 plenary and parallel forum presentations, we specially organized a hemodialysis access skills competition, providing a platform for young physicians to demonstrate their practical abilities. We also held specialized sessions such as a Renal Nursing Forum, a Kidney Transplant Summit, and a Dialysis Quality Control Training Course, truly achieving an in-depth integration from basic research to clinical practice. Leading scholars from home and abroad engaged in in-depth discussions on hot topics including quality management in nephrology, comprehensive management of chronic kidney disease, and interdisciplinary innovation integrating medicine and engineering, presenting a magnificent academic feast for all attendees.

The successful convening of this conference would not have been possible without the meticulous organization by the conference committee, the generous sharing of knowledge by all experts, and the enthusiastic participation of every delegate. The early summer of Shaoxing witnessed our harvest and friendship. Let us carry forward this harvest and camaraderie and look forward to reuniting again next year!
